Re: Agreement of Citizen-Citizen to Discontinue Use of Chanel Inc.'s CC Monogram (Our Ref. CNI USA TC 08/00682)

Dear Mr. Wood:

We write in response to your letter of April 29, 2008 concerning Citizen-Citizen's use of our client's CC Monogram in connection with its products and your agreement to discontinue use of our client's CC monogram on the items identified, namely the phone and matchbooks. As to your justification for using our client's mark, your letter ignores the fact that Citizen-Citizen has appropriated our client's famous mark for its own commercial purposes. Citizen-Citizen's use of our client's mark was not a matter of "commentary" concerning our client or the CHANEL brand, but rather a commercial use as a shortened form of the Citizen-Citizen moniker on actual products being sold by your company. Such use is not excused simply because those products were designed by an artist.

We do not wish to debate the issue, and your agreement that your company and you will refrain from using our client's mark going forward is sufficient to resolve this matter. To be clear, we understand from your letter that Citizen-Citizen and you have agreed to immediately and permanently discontinue any and all use of the CC monogram in connection with any goods or services offered for sale, sold or provided by Citizen-Citizen or you. If this understanding is incorrect in any way, please advise immediately.

Mr. Philip Wood
